

MDC is the ‘people’s college’

Re the Sept. 9 editorial, More milestones for our students:

At a time when our democratic institutions are more about partisanship than progress, Miami Dade College, “democracy’s college,” as its president Eduardo Padrón is quoted, is a breath of fresh air.

Opening the door to educational opportunity, to the chance at fulfilling one’s dreams is fundamental to a democracy.

Two million students from every corner of our community confirm that MDC is, indeed, the people’s college.

Hats off to this truly democratic institution.
